10 Alternatives to a 9–5 Job To Enjoy Life & Have More
Time and Money

Great to meet you!

I love that you are taking it serious by taking a copy of my The Top 10 Alternatives to 9-5 Guide.

The simple fact that you are looking for guidance and want to find alternatives to your 9-5 job makes me happy.

My name is Peter Deth and over the next few weeks we definitely will learn more about each other.

My favorite quote is:

“If you don’t look for alternatives in life, you will stay the person you are and never grow as a person.”

Many of us work a traditional Monday through Friday, nine-to-five job.

There is nothing wrong with it but do you really like what you do? Well, if you would, I am sure you wouldn’t be here and read these lines...

We go to work every day, bring work home with us, and occasionally even work through lunch. It's fairly regimented but a “safe option”. At the end of the month you get paid and as long as nothing goes wrong and you have a job, it’s all cool.

Some people just don't want that — and maybe you're one of them. For you, a 9-5 routine is not a great fit. Maybe you like to work earlier, or later, or only work specific days of the week. There are so many alternatives available for people who are looking for them.

Let's dive in and create the lifestyle you are looking for!

3 Things you should do if you are unhappy with what you do

1. If you don't like your job, change it!

Change your job and change your life. You should definitely remove yourself from situations where you feel that they are not good for you. Of course this can be scary, but keep in mind that short term pain will bring long term gain.

If you are not happy with your present job you will have to change it because if you don't, you will not be able to be happy for the rest of your life. Later on you will become resentful towards yourself and the people around you.

2. If you can't change your job than change your attitude

I fully understand that it's not always easy to just leave a job which you don't like because we all have lots of responsibilities like mortgages to pay, college fees, car insurance etc., not to forget about the normal bills for food, clothes and our basic needs.

Until you manage to find a different job or other things for a living it will help to change your attitude toward your current job. Attitude is everything. You can't imagine how much a positive attitude can help and how much happier you will be after you decided to look at the positive things in live.

3. Keep your dreams alive

It's so important to have big dreams and to keep them alive. No matter what you do, no matter how horrible your job may be and no matter how much you hate going to your Monday through Friday, nine-to-five job routine; if you manage to focus on the things which are important for you .. your dreams you will find a way to attract the right thoughts, the right believes and the right people into your life and you might even create a better job. Keep in mind that every experience – good or bad – will teach you something. Be grateful for the lessons you are being taught.

1. Massage Therapist

You think that you are good at giving massages and become a massage therapist? That's great!

Before you can do this professionally you will need to complete a massage training program and put in many hours of practical experience before you can actually start doing it. And .. you will also need a license.

Once you have completed all this, you can set your own hours, travel a lot if you don't have a studio, and meet a wide variety of interesting people.

2. Personal Trainer

Are you fit? Like, really fit? Do you know enough about nutrition and exercise that you could get other people into great shape? If so, then you may find the job as a personal trainer to be just what you want to do.

Personal trainers set their own hours and can work whenever, how often they want and wherever they want. You can go to a client's home or their office, or they can come to you. You could choose to work weekends only, or only in the mornings and have the afternoons free. You can also choose to only work three or four days a week. Some personal trainers like to work for gyms, which will provide them more stability - but hey, be careful this sounds again more of like a traditional work schedule.

If you live in a place like Hollywood or in Marbella/ Spain, you could eventually get some famous clients, and that could mean you earn serious money.

3. Cabin Crew

The cabin crew is responsible for providing services to the passengers on the flight. Their work starts before the passengers arrive, and involves making sure that the plane is clean, all instruments are in good shape, and enough food is on board. During the flight, they welcome passengers, inform them about safety procedures, and make sure that they have a pleasant experience on board.

Due to the nature of their work, the working hours are not fixed. If travelling is your passion and helping others is what you want to do, you like to be well-dressed, this can be a good fit for you. International flights are paid extremely well.

4. Tour guide

If you love travelling and to meet new people, this is a fabulous job! O.k. most likely you have to agree to 9-5 shifts, sometimes also a bit longer. The good things is: you are working for a few months and then you have a then you have a longer break where you can do other things you like.

5. Event Manager

If you hate travelling but love meeting new people all the time, you are good at negotiations and handling stressful situations, event management could be a good fit for you! You need to work hard before the events but then you can just sit back and relax until you have the next event on your schedule.

6. Find a rich partner

Find a rich partner to date or to marry. I guess that is an option some people might have in mind, but I am not here to give advice on that. Locations like Hollywood or Marbella/ Spain are great for it. Get a plane ticket and get going, if this is what you want to do.

7. Blogging

Blogging is one of the new-age careers and will allow you to skip the 9-to-5 routine. As a blogger, you will have the flexibility to choose your area of interest; it might be food, fashion or health & wellness. You could start your own blog, and write about your personal experiences, do reviews, or even educate your followers in your niche.

If you are a food or lifestyle blogger you can travel around to different places, take pictures of the variety of good food, than inform your followers about your experience with different meals at various restaurants.

There is no particular education or degree needed to be a blogger. Just choose your area of interest and there we go. You could also get an additional education in areas related to blogging, such as Word Press, marketing or content strategy, Social Media etc. Once you have this knowledge you can blog about it.

8. Teach English overseas

Teaching is another option for escaping the 9-5 routines. If you like travelling and living abroad find a teaching job at your dream location.

There is a hugh demand for English teachers in the Middle East, Asia and South America.

If it's difficult to find a job at home this could be an interesting option.

There are more than a billion people in China and another few hundred million in South East Asia, all these people want or need to learn English to get ahead in their careers and lives.

9. Freelancer

If you have skills which are in demand and you are really good at what you do, there is absolutely no need to sit in a corporate office.

Web experts, graphic designers or computer programmers are all examples of those who can make a living in the growing freelance industry.

This may not provide you with the security of a 9-5 office job; but on the other hand, you wouldn't read these lines if you were not looking for good alternatives.

10. Become an Entrepreneur

Being an Entrepreneur covers a real wide range of possible occupations and ventures and there are no limits to what you can do.

A lot of people doing things their very own way; having found their own answer to not having “a boss” and “living life” on their own terms running their own business. The business you run could be anything and everything.

If that isn't your thing you can stay right where you are and what you are doing so far. There are thousands of successful entrepreneurs all over the world and more showing up every day.

I love to meet new Entrepreneurs that are on the same path than me!

My goal is to make sure you get great tips and new ideas to be successful in what you are doing while creating the life you are looking for.
